FEBRUARY 12, 1756. [Numb. 2129.]

The SOUTH-CAROLINA Gazette.

LONDON, November 25.

AT a court of common council held this day, a motion was made to petition the parliament for a general national militia; and the question being put, the majority was declared for the question; but a division being moved for, there appeared to be, For the question 68, Against it 86.

The Experience man of war, lately taken by the Oxford, had 12 feet water in her hold, and was in danger of sinking; the admiral, therefore, ordered her to be burnt.

We hear, the right hon the earl of Buckinghamshire, lord lieutenant and custos rotulorum of the county of Norfolk, has given orders for the militia of that county to be raised. And,

'Tis thought, that all the counties which border upon the sea coasts, will also have orders for the raising their militia directly.

Turin, Nov. 2. His Sardinian majesty, in consequence of some late advices, as it is said, from Vienna, has given orders for making several additional works to most of the fortifications and fortresses in Piedmont, Montferrat, and the Milanese; and at the same time for erecting and charging several new magazines with large provisional quantities of military stores.

London, Nov. 27. Notwithstanding the present moderate, humane, polite, and generous behaviour of the French to the English, (which they seem to take great pains to persuade the world of) we are informed, from good authority, that the instructions late copied by admiral Boscawen breathed nothing but blood and slaughter, and that in the designed attack upon Halifax, no quarter was to be given to man, woman, or child!

A command from Woolwich is ordered for America with all possible expedition.

We hear that orders are given for raising the militia in the county of Kent.

We hear the land tax will be 4*s.* in the pound for the ensuing year.

Extract of a Letter from Paris, dated Nov. 10.

" The orders given to the duke de Nivernois and M. d'Affry to hold themselves ready to set out for Berlin and the Hague, gives ground to think that we are not disposed to grant the English their demands.

" M. de Folard, whose journey to Munich has been put off for upwards of six months, is also going to set out immediately, so that we shall have 12 ministers with the princes of the empire, viz. 2 at Cologn, 2 at Berlin, 1 at Dresden, Coblentz, Stugard, Ratisbon, Vienna, Manheim, Munich, and Liege, without reckoning our emissaries at other courts.

Orders are given to put all the coast from Dunkirk to Bayonne in a proper posture of defence, and to distribute arms to the Garde Cote militia. Notwithstanding the present East-India sale at Port L'Orient, our actions are in a languishing way. "

London, Nov 29 An express arrived on thursday night from Madrid, with letters from Mr. Keene, his majesty's embassador at that court, relative to the earthquake which has happened at Lisbon.

We hear that there will be some more removals, and that the Hon. Richard Edgcumbe will be made a lord of the admiralty.

In consequence of a most gracious message from His Majesty to the legislature, both houses, we hear, have unanimously voted 100,000 l. towards the relief of the unhappy sufferers by the dreadful calamity at Lisbon —The message to the house of lords (by the earl of Holdernesse) was in the following words.

GEORGE R.

His majesty, having received from his embassador at Madrid, a certain account of the fatal and deplorable event which happened at Lisbon the 1st instant by an earthquake, which has laid waste almost the whole city, and destroyed many thousands of the inhabitants; in consequence whereof, those who remain must be reduced to the utmost distress: And his majesty, being moved with the greatest concern for so good and faithful an ally, as the king of Portugal, and with the utmost compassion for the distresses to which that city and kingdom may be reduced; wherein great numbers of his majesty's own subjects were resident, and many more interested; recommends to the house of lords the consideration of this dreadful and extensive calamity, which cannot fail to affect the hearts of all persons, who have any sense of religion, or humanity; and desires the concurrence and assistance of the house of lords, in sending such speedy and effectual relief as may be suitable to so afflicting and pressing an exigency.

His Catholic majesty, upon receiving an express from his brother in law the king of Portugal, acquainting him with his distressed circumstances, immediately sent away 100,000 pistoles for his present relief, and gave orders to supply his court with every thing else that should be wanted.

On thursday an express was dispatch'd to Lisbon, which is to land at Calais, and proceed by land to our minister there: And another express was dispatch'd on thursday night by the way of Falmouth.

Several eminent merchants set out at the same time for Falmouth, to embark on board the packet boat, which we hear has orders, on her arrival at Lisbon, not to stay longer than the express be safely deliver'd, but to return directly for England.

We hear, that a day of Fasting and Humiliation will be shortly appointed, to implore a continuance of that Providence by which this small Island and its Appendages have been so remarkably distinguished.

Hague, Nov 20 A long letter, in very good French, has been published in our Gazettes, dated from Dunkirk, in which it is admitted, that new works have been raised, the mole repaired, batteries constructed, a new aqueduct made, and some decaying works rebuilt; notwithstanding which it is hoped, that the English and Dutch will be so just as to allow that these are no fortifications. If you ask what they are then? the answer is, proper precautions against the invasion with which they are threatened from Great Britain

CHARLES-TOWN, February 12.

Tho' two Parties of Acadians, who attempted to make their Escape from this Town, have been retaken and brought back, we hear, there are still 30 of the Men missing. And we have just received an Account, that 5 or 6 them, on the 3d Instant, went to the Plantation of Mr. John Williams jun. at Santee, while he was from home, terrified his Wife very much, robbed the House of Fire Arms and Cloaths, and broke open a Box out of which they took some Money, &c. and that the Neighbourhood, having gone in Quest of them as soon as they were inform'd of this Transaction, had track'd them into the River-Swamp —— As it is apprehended to be the Duty of every Civil and Military Officer throughout the Province (as it is indeed of every Inhabitant) to prevent such Outrages, &c. &c. 'tis hoped these Acadians will not be suffered to commit any more Robberies, or even to appear beyond the Limits prescribed them.
